INTRODUCTION 2.0

His inspiration for racing began with his grandfather, Pratab Kumar, who raced modified scooters on the Sholavaram circuit, and his uncles, who raced and won races on the MMRT. When he was very young, he used to watch MotoGP and F1 races with them, and that is how he got his start in racing.

The first time he rode on the track he realised that what he wanted was to race, to be able to open up the bike and feel its power and little by little he felt more and more comfortable with the bike, lap after lap. He remembers that he wanted to get his knee down like in MotoGP racing, he finally did it and looked real cool doing it.

INTRODUCTION 3.0

Learning to understand the bike, the technical details of setting it up and the riding skills needed to push the bike and myself to the limit are some of the most fun I've had. When I race, the whole world fades away, it's just me, my bike and the track. I enjoy the thrill of having to fight to the chequered flag.

“Why do we fall, so we can learn to pick ourselves up”
